PINS Webinar: Supporting High Masking Needs in Neurodivergent Girls A session for Parents / Carers and School Staff

Wednesday 21st January 2026

Via Microsoft Teams

4.00-5.30pm Early Session join link:

7.00-8.30pm Late Session join link:

Children can appear engaged at school, but may show their challenges more openly in the comfort of home. Home can often be a place where they process and release stress and where emotions and needs become more visible.

This webinar looks at masking, especially in girls, and how neurodivergent children sometimes conceal their struggles to navigate school and social environments.

In this session, Dr Pooky Knightsmith will support you to:

Spot the subtle signs that a/your child is masking

Understand the impact on their wellbeing, including anxiety, burnout, and emotional school avoidance

Discover practical, ready to use strategies that help children feel safe to unmask

We'll look at masking across the neurodivergent spectrum: including autism, ADHD, dyslexia, and more and explore small, thoughtful shifts that can make a big difference in supporting children both at school and at home.

Due to the growing success of my small, local business teaching French and Spanish to young children from 0 to 11 years with Kidslingo - I am looking for a self-employed Spanish and/or French tutor to work approx. 10 hours a week across the Horsham area (Horsham, Cowfold, Rudgwick, Slinfold, Loxwood, Haywards Heath, Burgess Hill and surrounds).

My business is part of a multi award-winning national franchise called Kidslingo, running fun language classes across the UK in hundreds of schools, nurseries and venues. We now bring our fun and innovative approach to language learning to thousands of children.

- Are you a confident Spanish / French speaker?
- Do you have experience working with children?
- Are you fun and hardworking?
- Do you have your own transport?

Please get in touch if this sounds like you. Ideally you would have a recent enhanced DBS & be signed up to the DBS Update service. First aid certificate & child protection training useful, but not essential as full training is given. All lesson plans and materials provided.

Successful applicants will be subject to full safeguarding checks and require an Enhanced DBS.
